THE INQUIRY INTO HISTORICAL INSTITUTIONAL ABUSE 1922 – 1995

WITNESS STATEMENT OF CLINTON MASSEY

I, Clinton Massey, will say as follows:-

Personal details

1. I was born on [REDACTED]. I lived with my parents in [REDACTED] until I was placed in care in/around 1967. I went in to care when my parent's marriage broke up.
2. I have one sister and she was also placed in care.

Marmion House

3. I was about ten years old when I went to Marmion House, Hollywood. I was there for six years. It was a fantastic place and I was well treated. My house mother there was called [REDACTED] and she was from [REDACTED].

Kincora House

4. I had to leave Marmion House when I left school at sixteen. I was moved to Kincora in/around 1973 when I was sixteen years old. I was frequently subjected to sexual abuse.
5. My transfer to Kincora was arranged through the social workers. My social worker was called Miss Preston. She never wanted to come in to Kincora House even though I met her every week. I met her in her car around the corner from the home. She was a young woman, about twenty two or twenty three and it was as if she could sense there was something not right about the place. I have had no contact with Miss Preston since leaving the home.

6. There were eight boys in Kincora at this time. I think this was the maximum number of residents at any time in the home.
7. I saw money changing hands from staff to certain boys. I think certain boys did not suffer abuse but others did. It was the older boys in the home who were about eighteen years old who I saw receiving pound notes from the staff in the evenings. I think the staff gave them money to go out. They were allowed to go out to the pub in the evenings and they did not have to go to bed early. It seemed as if they could do what they liked. Some of these boys came from rough areas and had links with the outside world. I found them intimidating and they would use the younger boys to run errands for them.
8. I had to hand over my unopened pay packet to Mr Mains who was in charge of the home. I earned twelve pounds per week and was given one pound as my weekly allowance. One pound was placed in an Ulster Bank savings account and the staff retained the remainder of my wages.
9. I started work in the Belfast Telegraph each day at 10.00am and my roommate went to work every day at 7.00am. For a couple of hours in the morning I was the only one in the bedroom. That is when the abuse took place.
10. I was raped in the morning almost every other day by William McGrath. I was forced to suck his penis. He ejaculated over my face and most mornings I had to go and wash his semen off my face. I felt like he was rubbing my face in it to humiliate me. This treatment continued throughout my time in the home from 1973-1974.

11. I never spoke about the abuse to any member of staff, to my room-mate or to any of the other boys. I did not feel they would believe me or take it seriously and I felt too embarrassed and ashamed to mention it to the others.
12. I used to walk back to Marmion House at least four nights per week as I knew I would get love and affection there. I spent as little time as possible in the house. I never wanted to go back to Kincora as there was such an intimidating atmosphere there. I was small and timid and easy prey.
13. When you were having a bath Mr McGrath would walk in on you. When I had a bath I would be in and out in two minutes because I knew he would know and would come in.
14. I never directly saw any other boys being abused at Kincora House. It all happened behind closed doors. I never heard anything and no other boys told me anything about abuse in the home. I did not have any friends in the home and we did not communicate well with each other.
15. I finally decided to tell someone and went to Strandtown police station to report the matter. I was sixteen at the time. I do not recall the name of the officer on duty but I said I wanted to make a complaint about staff at Kincora hitting me. I did not mention sexual abuse. The Sergeant on duty would not listen to me and got another officer to escort me to the gate. The three men that ran this home were looked on as pillars of the local community, upright and church going. The Sergeant did not want to listen to me. He did not record any details of my complaint.
16. Three members of staff at Kincora were convicted as a result of investigation into abuse at the home. William McGrath was the only one who abused me. All three men went to prison. William Mr McGrath was sentenced to four years in prison. The RUC approached me prior to William McGrath's trial and I gave a brief statement confirming that I had been sexually abused by him during my time at Kincora but providing very little detail of the abuse. I attended his trial but after two days at trial he pleaded guilty and I did not have to give evidence.

17. I recall having bought a stereo system at the time which I was paying off weekly. I thought I will still be paying off my stereo when he gets out of prison.

18. A reporter from the BBC, Chris Moore, contacted me over twenty years ago. It was several years after Mr McGrath's conviction. He was making a spotlight programme. He wrote a book about Kincora House. I appeared in the programme in silhouette.

Life After Care

19. I remained at this home for 9 months to a year leaving in 1974 when I was about seventeen. I had to wait about a year to join the Merchant Navy. It was like a five year adventure but I had to come back to reality. It was only when I was about twenty that I re-established contact with my mother. I then started to come back home on leave.

20. I lived with my mother until she died four years ago.

21. I left the Merchant Navy and I moved in with my mother and then I joined the Ulster Defence Regiment. I was in it for four years.

22. I have struggled to come to terms with the abuse I suffered at Kincora House. I have not worked in years and have been prescribed medication (Diazepam amongst other tablets) by my doctor. I have MS in my leg so I don't work now.

24. [REDACTED]

25. I attend Action Mental Health in [REDACTED] five days a week. I also attend with a counsellor from Nexus every Thursday. [REDACTED]

26. I get embarrassed when family and friends ask why I have never married and worry that they think I might be homosexual when the truth is that I do not let myself get involved with people because I feel I cannot trust anyone. I have missed out in having a wife and a companion, on having children and being a grandparent. I blame it all on the abuse I have suffered.

27. My mother asked me about Kincora but I said nothing happened and I never told my mother or my sister about the abuse I suffered. I did not want to put any guilt on my mother by telling her what I went through at Kincora. Life was difficult enough for her.

28. [REDACTED]

29. I came to the Inquiry because I wanted someone official, someone from Government to hear my story. I may be a little person but I still have a voice and I want to be able to hold my head up as I know I have done nothing wrong. Being subjected to abuse during my time in care took everything from me and that is the way I see it.

Statement of Truth

I believe that the facts stated in this witness statement are true.

239. Miss Florence Rosemary GODDARD, a Senior Social Worker, supervised [REDACTED] R10 while he was resident in Kincora but never received a complaint from him regarding the conduct of the staff.

240. However, when [REDACTED] R10 was interviewed by police on 14 March 1980, he made a written statement. He states that after three or four weeks in the hostel, McGrath wakened him one morning by placing his, McGrath's, hand under the bedclothes, rubbing the inner part of his thigh and around his penis. [REDACTED] R10 later threatened McGrath that if he did this again he would kill him.

241. A check of RUC Headquarters Criminal Records and other indices revealed nothing known of [REDACTED] R10.

242. He was not medically examined. He has since married and is living with his wife and family at the address stated.

243. CLINTON LEE MASSEY

Clinton MASSEY, born [REDACTED] of [REDACTED] came to Northern Ireland from Scotland in 1968 and on 2 October 1970 he was taken into care under Section 103 of the Children and Young Persons Act (Northern Ireland) 1968, when his mother was admitted to hospital. He entered Kincora on 30 April 1973 and remained there until 24 October 1973.

244. Mrs DOBBIN, one of the two Social Workers responsible for the supervision of Massey is presently residing in Australia and for that reason has not been interviewed by police. Although Massey did not complain to her of any sexual interference by members of the Kincora Staff he did make her aware that he was unhappy in the hostel. Reports submitted by Mrs Dobbin indicate her concern for Massey's apparent depression. These reports are exhibited as WJAG/4, WJAG/5, WJAG/6, all part of PJM/5, by Detective Constable Girvan.

NOTE FOR FILEMRS. DOBBIN

7th June, 1973.

CLYNTON MASKEY

Clynton came to see me in the office as arranged. He seems to be still quite happy in his work, although he has said that some people do not think much of the type of work he is doing. He apparently chose last night to work until after 10 p.m. with the van driver in Ballymena. He told me that he dreads the thought of returning to the hostel every night. He seems to like the rest of the boys all right, but is never invited to go out with them. By the time he gets home usually most of the boys have gone out, some it seems to visit relatives, others hang around the street corners. I made many suggestions as to how Clynton could make more friends, but he really seems to be unwilling to make the effort. I even suggested that he go for a walk on his own, just so as to get out in the bright summer evenings. He told me he does not like walking and described himself as being lazy and not having the energy to do much. Seemingly he eats very little and has little energy to do very much. The only thing he seems to enjoy is going back to Marmion even if he just watches television. When he is there he seems to be happy enough. At Kincora he just never seems to be there when the other boys are.

Clynton's latest idea is to join the Army. He told me <sup>that he</sup> he recruited a year ago, but failed to turn up for his training course. He would rather like to join a Scottish Regiment. I encouraged him to go along to the office and see what possibility there was; he said that he would not be interested in moving before September. Clynton hopes to go on Holidays with the Marmion children, and is looking very much forward to doing this.

Spoke briefly to Mr. Maines from Kincora. He thinks that Clynton is rather discontented at present, although he is no trouble whatsoever to the staff; and keeps very much to himself.

Clynton Massey

Clynton phoned me this morning. Unfortunately he phoned from a call box, and I was only able to say a few words to him before we were cut off. He was in a rather depressed state and said that he wanted to move from Kincora.

I phoned Kincora. Mr. Mains said that Clynton had not arrived back the previous night until 11 p.m. He said he had been at Marmion. Mr. Mains again told me that Clynton was a very quiet boy and did not mix much with the others. He said that Clynton had been to the Army recruitment Office, and been told that because of being on probation he cannot be considered for a job at present.

I spoke to the staff at Marmion, who said that Clynton had been rather depressed over the weekend and had spent a lot of his time with them. He was very reluctant to return to Marmion at night.

12th June, 1973.

I called to see Clynton at the Hostel. He appears to be the scape goat for the other boys. One boy in particular spits on him and throws ash on him. Others flick ash over his food when he is eating. He said that he is continually being used to go messages for the boys, and if he fails to co-operate with them he is attacked. I tried to find out why Clynton is being picked on. It seems that he finds difficulty in mixing. He keeps very much to himself. The other boys have mostly all come from Bawnmore and Clynton is the odd one out. He has not mentioned the situation to any of the staff at Kincora. He is afraid that he will get more abuse if the boys are criticised for their behaviour.

I asked Clynton where he would like to move to. He would definitely not consider the Boys' Hostel in Dunmurry, he thinks the boys are too rough there. He would like to go to the Newtownards Boys' Hostel, but I told him that I did not think there were any vacancies. He said he knows most of the boys in Newtownards, as quite a number of them were in Marmion.

Clynton said that if he did not move soon "he would do something terrible". We talked about his visit to the Army Recruitment Office. Clynton said that the only reason he wants to join the Army is to get away from Kincora Hostel. He would like to contact his Probation Officer to see if his Probation Order could be cut short.

NOTE FOR FILEMRS. DOBBIN

13th June, 1973.

CLYNTON MASSEY

I spoke to Mr. Mains and told him about Clynton's present unhappiness at the Hostel. Mr. Mains said that Clynton has been receiving abuse for only about a week, as previously he was accepted by the other boys. Mr. Mains does not know the cause of the change of attitude. He said that there are two fairly tough boys at the Hostel, and that they needed to be continually checked for their behaviour. The six boys who came from Bawnmore Home have been seen together with two others who are not from there, but they have friends outside the Hostel. Mr. Mains described Clynton as an isolated type of person. He finds him fairly agreeable but rather sly and calculating. Mr. Mains thinks he would not get on any better in any other Hostel setting. He thought that lodgings would probably suit him better.

Spoke to Mr. Dalzell Probation Officer and explained the situation to him and asked him if he would visit Clynton.

14th June, 1973.

Clynton was a little less depressed today. He did not get back to the hostel until half past eleven last night, as he did a paper run to Ballymena. He is still anxious to leave the hostel. I suggested lodgings again and Clynton was very keen to go into lodgings, and would not mind if it were at a distance from Holywood.

Clynton is going to see his probation officer today. He is anxious to get the order shortened. He is not very keen on joining the Army any more.

I went to live at Kincora Working Boys' Hostel, Upper Newtownards Road, Belfast, sometime during June or July 1973. I left the Hostel on 24 October of that year. When I arrived I was put into a room with two other boys, R10 and another boy whose name I forget. We all slept in the back bedroom. When I moved in the person in charge was Joseph Mains, Raymond Semple was his deputy. Another man also worked there, a bald headed man who worked during the evenings and most mornings. This third man whose name I have been told is McGrath used to wake the boys up each morning. I had only been staying at the hostel for two or three weeks when I awoke one morning to find McGrath sitting on the side of my bed. He had his hand underneath the bedclothes and his arm was resting on my right hip. I was lying facing away from him. His hand was around my penis and he was moving his hand up and down my penis masturbating me. As I awoke and became aware of what was happening I rolled over and saw McGrath. He continued to masturbate me and said "Do you like me doing this" I said "No I don't" and he took his hand away. Mr McGrath then got up from my bed, woke up the other two boys in the room and left. When I woke up I had an erection but whether this was because of what Mr McGrath was doing to me at that time or whether it was because I wanted to urinate I do not know. I did not mention

I have already made a statement about my period in Kincora on the 18th March 1980. I would like to say when I went into Kincora I enjoyed it there but my attitude changed after the incidents with McGrath. I did ask my social worker, Miss Preston, many times to get me out of Kincora. I didn't tell her why. It was because of McGrath and what he had done to me. I was always on my guard after that. I was afraid that McGrath would continue his behaviour against me.

On 18th March 1980 and 5th May 1980 I made statements to the Royal Ulster Constabulary regarding my stay in Kincora Boys Hostel. I went to the hostel in June or July 1973 and stayed there for about six months. I would have been fifteen years old at the time. I have nothing to add to my previous statements. I first learnt of the allegations of a vice ring at Kincora from the television earlier this year. Apart from what I have said in my previous statements I saw and heard nothing of homosexuality during my time at Kincora. I certainly knew nothing of a vice ring. I remember when the news first broke my friend <sup>R10</sup> [REDACTED] who was at Kincora for five years was as surprised as I was because he knew nothing of any homosexuality there either. I do not know of any businessmen, Justices of the Peace, civil servants or Police officers being involved in any homosexuality with the staff or boys at Kincora or outside the hostel.

INQUIRY

AFFIDAVIT OF CLINTON MASSEY

I, CLINTON MASSEY, of [REDACTED], aged eighteen years and upwards, make oath and say as follows:

1. I spent some time as a resident at Kincora Boys Home and I make this affidavit in support of the above application. I will refer to a bundle of documents attached hereto and marked with my initials "CM1" to which I will refer throughout this affidavit.
2. I spent 8 months in Kincora Boys Home as a child. I made a detailed statement about this to the HIA and described the abuse I suffered there, which included serious and violent physical and sexual abuse.
3. I did not say much about these allegations before. That is because people in this country are very used to shooting and violence but when it comes to nudity and sex I believe we are stuck in the 50's and people don't talk about it. In the 1980s my doctor sent me to see a psychiatrist who was supposed to specialise in psycho-sexual issues, but I believe she was making it up as she went along so I stopped seeing her.

4. My transfer to Kincora was arranged through Social Workers. My Social Worker was called Ms Preston. She never wanted to come into Kincora even though I met her every week. I had to meet her in a car park around the corner from the Home. It was as if she could sense there was something not right about the place. I have never seen Ms Preston since I left the Home.
5. During my time in Kincora Boys Home there were about 8 boys in the home which I believe was the maximum number of residents at any time in the home.
6. I remember seeing money changing hands between staff and certain boys at the Home. I don't know what this was for, but I thought at the time it was strange. I think certain boys did not suffer abuse but others did. The older boys in the home who were about 18 years old I remember seeing receiving pound notes from the staff in the evening. The staff gave them the money to go out. They were allowed to go out to the pub in the evenings and they did not have to go to bed early. It seemed as if they could do what they liked. Some of these boys came from rough areas and had links with the outside world. I found them intimidating and they would use the younger boys to run errands for them. The UDA was massive at the time, and their families lived in these streets. It was very common for 17 or 18 year olds to be in such organisations. I was scared of the other boys there, they were hardened boys who were used to the streets and I was a quiet boy who had been in Holywood before I went to Kincora. I feel I was out of my depth in the Home.
7. When in Kincora I started work in the Belfast Telegraph. I had to hand over my unopened pay packet to Mr Maines who was in charge of the home. I earned £12 per week and was given £1 of my weekly allowance. £1 was placed in an Ulster Bank Savings Account and the staff retained the remainder of my wages.
8. I started work each day at 10am and my room-mate went to work every day at 7am. For a couple of hours in the morning I was the only one in the bedroom. This was when the abuse took place. I remember the horrific acts of sexual abuse that were perpetrated on me in graphic detail, however it would be even more traumatic for me to be publicly linked with the acts of abuse perpetrated on me as they were so humiliating and degrading. I was sexually abused almost every other day by William McGrath. This treatment continued throughout my time in the home from 1973 to 1974.

9. I wish to give a full and detailed account of this abuse to any Inquiry into Kincora in a way that will protect my identity and anonymity. I would not wish to be publicly identified as the individual who was a victim of these acts through jigsaw identification through my evidence in these proceedings.
10. I recall when I was having a bath Mr McGrath would walk in on me. When I had a bath I would be in about 2 minutes because I knew he would come in.
11. I never directly saw any other boys being abused at Kincora. It always happened behind closed doors. I never heard anything and no other boys told me anything about the abuse in the home. I did not have any friends in the home and we did not communicate well with each other.
12. As I left for work later than the other boys I often saw well-dressed men in suits arriving at the Home, but I didn't know who they were or why they were there. I put them down as people from the Welfare. I think they were coming to see Mr Mains. I didn't recognise them and wouldn't recognise them if I saw them again. I don't know whether they knew of or were involved in the abuse.
13. I never spoke about the abuse to any other member of staff, to my room-mate or to any of the other boys. I do not feel that they would believe me or take it seriously and I felt to embarrassed and ashamed to mention it to others.
14. I finally decided to tell someone and went to Strandtown RUC Station to report the matter. I was 16 at the time. I do not recall the name of the officer on duty. I said I wanted to make a complaint about staff at Kincora hitting me. I did not mention sexual abuse as I was too ashamed. The Sergeant on duty would not listen to me. The three men who ran the home were looked on as pillar of the community, as church going men. The Sergeant did not want to listen to me and he did not record any details of my complaint. He got another officer to escort me to the gate.

15. I remember when the RUC arrested Mains, McGrath and Semple. I did not report them for sexual abuse to police beforehand but after they were arrested a detective came to my mother's home asking about what had happened to me in Kincora. I don't even know how they got the address as it wasn't my address when I had been in Kincora. The detectives told me they just wanted a basic statement off me and that they didn't want details. I was around 21 or 22 at the time and I felt my brain was running at 100 miles per hour. I was afraid, thinking what on earth I would tell my mother. I wanted them out as I didn't want my mother to know anything because I didn't want to burden her. I was also looking at the clock – I was about to go to work to start the night-shift and I couldn't afford to be late. They only stayed around 20 minutes. I told them McGrath had sexually abused me but did not tell them much more and did not give more detail than that.

16. These three members of staff at Kincora were convicted as a result of the investigation into abuse in the home.

17. A reporter from the BBC, Chris Moore, contacted me over 20 years ago. It was several years after Mr McGrath's conviction and he was making a spotlight program. He wrote a book about Kincora house. I appeared in the program in silhouette. I was also mentioned in an article in the Irish Independent in August 2014 [CM1 TAB 1] This article also mentions the allegations of MI5 involvement.

19. I get embarrassed when family and friends ask why I never married and I worry that they think I may be homosexual. The truth is that I do not let myself get involved with people because I cannot trust anyone. I have missed out in having a wife and a companion and having children and being a grand-parent. I blame it all on the abuse I have suffered.

20. My mother asked me about Kincora but I said nothing happened. I never told my mother or my sister about the abuse I suffered. I did not want to put any guilt on my mother by telling her what I went through at Kincora. Her life was difficult enough.
21. I feel that every aspect of my life has been a downward spiral because of my time in care. I have even acquired a criminal record which was due to the psychiatric issues that I have.
22. When I was in the home I did not know or have any suspicion that the security forces or security services knew of the abuse or were complicit in it. However in the 1980s I remember hearing allegations that the security forces or security services were involved in the abuse. I remember this being talked about in Crumlin Road. I went up to the trial of Mains, Semple and McGrath on the 2nd day, and they changed their plea to guilty. I remember they received light sentences, William McGrath who had regularly sexually abused me was sentenced to only 4 years in jail. I recall buying a stereo system at the time and I was paying it off weekly. I thought I would still be paying off my stereo when he got out of prison.
23. There was talk among the boys about the sentences being very light, and I remember it being suggested that there had been involvement by the security forces in some way.
24. I didn't know about any of the inquiries in the 1980s. I wasn't even contacted which I think was strange as I don't think I would have been hard to track down, especially since the Detectives had found me at my mother's home. The first I heard about the inquiries was months later, after they had taken place, I can't even remember how I heard of them. I do remember that Kincora was brought up in the media every so often.

25. I later read the book "who Framed Colin Wallace" by Paul Foot. I remember the name of Colin Wallace from before the book came out, and remember that he wanted to expose what had happened. I was named in the book as "Clint Ferguson", which I think was not much of a disguise. The book makes allegations of the involvement of the security forces and security services. I read that there had been allegations of MI5 involvement.
26. I am now aware from press and radio reports that Colin Wallace and another army officer have come forward more recently to allege MI5 involvement in the abuse at Kincora. I believe Colin Wallace's claims are strengthened by the fact that a second witness has come forward. I now very strongly suspect that the security forces or security services were involved and believe these claims need to be properly investigated.
27. I understand that the HIA does not have powers to summons witnesses or documents from outside this jurisdiction. I have also been to the HIA and have seen the institutions represented by teams of lawyers on behalf of the Orders. I don't believe this will be enough to ensure these allegations are properly investigated. I feel it is important that the Inquiry into these allegations has adequate powers and that the victims are properly represented.
28. I believe that people in London were behind what happened, and that they had been pulling the strings of those in authority here. I feel that leaving it to the HIA is them turning a blind eye to what happened.
29. I want a comprehensive investigation now, and I don't want it to be drawn out. I don't think it is good for anyone to do it halfway. There is no point in doing it in a way that means that it might have to be re-done, I don't believe that this makes any sense.
30. I don't mind whether it is the HIA or another Inquiry that examines these allegations but I believe it is important that it is done properly. At the moment it does not look to me that it can be investigated properly at the HIA. I believe that we know that there were systemic failures, but we need to identify the individuals who were behind what happened and find out what exactly went on.

31. Save as otherwise appears I depose to the foregoing from my own knowledge and belief.

RM14026404 - IP Clinton Massey - This was a referral from the HIA. Mr Massey was included in the original indictment against McGrath. The allegations he made to the HIA differ slightly from the allegations he originally made in the 1980's. He is now alleging that he was raped by McGrath. I have previously spoken to him and he does not wish to make a new complaint.

I have called out recently at his home address in [REDACTED] but I am not sure if he still lives there. In recent times Clinton Massey has been on Spotlight and other news programs about Kincora. He uses the name Clint Massey. Clinton (Clint) Massey was hospitalised for a while before Christmas. I have called at this house a number of times. A letter will be hand delivered by myself asking him to contact me. I have contacted his solicitor (KRW). It is not believed that Clinton wants to make another complaint but she will confirm.

Update 7/7/15 ? Action for Con [REDACTED] - to do a follow up email to solicitor saying that we are closing the investigation and we will reopen it if at any time he wishes to make a complaint.

- Email sent 06/07/15 to [REDACTED] Kevin Winter?s Solicitor ? if no reply from Mr Massey?s solicitor by 20/07/15 then this matter will be closed.

- Letter copied onto the OEL.

Update 04/08/15 ? Con [REDACTED] has not had a reply to the email dated 29/04/15. He sent a further one 07/07/15 to confirm the matter is now closed but can be reopened should Mr Massey wish it to be. There has been no reply to this email either.

This matter is now closed.
