The Historical Institutional Abuse Inquiry will commence its public evidence sessions with an Opening Hearing at 2pm (GMT), 13th January 2014 at Banbridge Courthouse, Banbridge, Co. Down, Northern Ireland.

She will provide a general overview of the structure of the Inquiry, and the issues and questions which it will be addressing.

The Historical Institutional Abuse Inquiry was formally established in January 2013 by the Northern Ireland Executive. It has a remit to investigate child abuse which occurred in residential institutions in Northern Ireland over a 73-year period up to 1995.

The Inquiry is expected to hear from more than 300 witnesses during the course of the public evidence sessions. The majority of these will give evidence in person, although some may give their evidence in the form of a written statement. However, in some instances, a live video-link will be used.

The public hearings are expected to continue until June 2015.

434 individuals have made a formal application to speak to the Inquiry and/or its Acknowledgement Forum. Most of the applications (280) have come from individuals residing in Northern Ireland. However, there have also been 61 applications from Australia, 63 applications from Great Britain, 20 applications from the Republic of Ireland and 8 from other countries. (2 applications were incomplete).

The Inquiry's Acknowledgement Forum has now met with 263 applicants.

Applications to participate in the Statutory Inquiry are now closed. However, potential witnesses can still apply to speak to the Acknowledgement Forum if they wish. It will continue its work in parallel with that of the Statutory Inquiry.

A total of 13 institutions in Northern Ireland are currently under investigation by the Inquiry in relation to allegations of historical institutional abuse and/or neglect. In due course, the Inquiry may decide to investigate other institutions.

The Inquiry's Chairman, Sir Anthony Hart, is a retired senior high court judge who practised in Northern Ireland. The other members of the Inquiry are Geraldine Doherty, who was formerly the Head of the Central Council for Education and Training in Social Work in Scotland, and David Lane, who was formerly Director of Social Services in Wakefield, West Yorkshire, England.

It is anticipated that the Inquiry's public hearings will continue on Tuesday, 14th and Wednesday, 15th January, commencing at 10.30am on each day. Senior Counsel to the Inquiry, Christine Smith QC, will continue to deliver her opening address during those two days. After she has concluded, legal representatives for any of the core participants who wish to deliver a short opening address will be given the opportunity to do so.

The Inquiry's hearings will then resume at 10.30am on Monday, 27th January, with the commencement of the Inquiry's first thematic module of evidence. This will focus on the following former institutions, both of which were run by the Sisters of Nazareth:

- St Joseph's Home, Termonbacca, Derry/Londonderry
- Nazareth House Children's Home, Bishop St., Derry/Londonderry

Senior Counsel to the Inquiry, Christine Smith QC, will deliver an opening address with regard to this module. Her opening address is expected to continue on Tuesday, 28th January. Further information on these and future hearings will be made available to the media closer to the time.

It is anticipated that all public hearings will take place at Banbridge Courthouse.

Under the Inquiry's Terms of Reference, the Inquiry has to complete its hearings and all investigative work by mid-summer 2015, and has to submit its report to the Northern Ireland Executive by 18 January 2016.

The Inquiry's hearings are open to the public. Details of forthcoming proceedings will be posted regularly on the Inquiry's website: www.hiainquiry.org
