

Historical Institutional Abuse Inquiry
Press Release by the Chairman – Sir Anthony Hart
29 January 2013

Sir Anthony Hart, the Chairman of the Inquiry, said today “I am delighted to announce that The Inquiry into Historical Institutional Abuse Act (Northern Ireland) 2013 has received the Royal Assent and became law on Saturday 19 January. This means that the Inquiry now has the legal authority to proceed to the next stage of its work, and all that is required to complete the legal framework is for the Office of the First Minister and deputy First Minister to make rules under the Act.

The Inquiry intends to move forward as quickly as it can. We have already asked several institutions to voluntarily produce documents to us, and a number have said that they are gathering the documents we have requested, and we expect to receive these soon.

As of today, Tuesday 29 January 2013, 165 individuals have sent applications to the Inquiry, and 61 of them have described their experiences to the Acknowledgement Forum. The Inquiry wants to hear from as many people as possible, particularly those who experienced abuse. I urge all those who want to help the Inquiry’s work to contact us, whether they experienced abuse themselves, or saw others being abused. We also want to hear from anyone who can give first hand evidence of abuse in residential institutions, such as staff or others who came in contact with children, even if those people were not abused themselves.

“Application forms can be downloaded from our website www.hiainquiry.org or requested by calling the Inquiry helpline on Freephone 0800 068 4935. Completed applications from within the UK, should be sent to Freepost H I A Inquiry address, for those outside the U.K., completed applications (stamped) should be sent to H I A Inquiry, P O Box 2080, Belfast BT1 9QA.”
